Some people may be waking up on this day with a desire to start their lives anew; others may want to give their relationships a fresh start, or perhaps you're wondering what to expect from your new year. The Chinese zodiac, based on the twelve animal signs is based on the fact that the Chinese zodiac cycle always begins with the year of the Sheep and is named after the 12 animals of the zodiac. The zodiac is divided into 12 sections and each section is comprised of one of the twelve animals of the zodiac. There are four animals for each of the four seasons, each with two months in the year. In Chinese Astrology, the Chinese zodiac is widely recognized because it is based on the same time cycle that is used in many other Asian countries, countries of the Middle East and many of the European countries. The Year of the Rooster is said to be the time of fire energy. It is the time of expansion and growth. Roosters are confident and fearless. They work hard, but enjoy their achievements and feel deeply attached to the people they care about. They enjoy being around
